

Penns Landing

Philadelphia, PA

profile

Penn's Landing is a major mixed use waterfront development area on the Delaware River. It forms the eastern edge of Philadelphia's Center City revitalization effort. As a principal in charge, Mr. Jones was responsible for the preparation and urban design guidelines for various hotel, apartment, state museum and boat basin parcels. He also was responsible for the design of the key elements in the public environment.

The esplanade, which extends the entire length of the waterfront, provides public access for strolling sitting, viewing and reviewing interpretive materials while serving pleasure craft and cruise ships with utility hookup and mooring facilities.
